

FCC Commissioners
The Federal Communications Commission RE: Docket 04-435
445 12th Street, SW
Washington, DC 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners ,

I am writing to voice my concerns about the FCC's proposal to relax the restrictions on the use of cell phones on airplanes in flight.

ENOUGH!!!! It's bad enough I have to wait behind some jackass jabbering away in a mic with an earphone jammed in his ear who waited until he got to the cash register to call home and ask the wife if he got the right damn milk while trying to get a cup of coffee at the local convenience store now you're thinking about doing this!!

Are you nuts!?!?!?

Here's what you're going to have: a group of people crammed into a small space that they can't escape from for at least an hour, and more than half of them have the entitlement mindset that Americans have seemed to adopt where believe they have a God-given right to do what they want, when they want, however they want, with no concern of the people around them. Don't believe me?

GO SEE A DAMN MOVIE!!!!

Oh, you'll hear some GREAT cell conversations there!

And you paid eight dollars for the privilege!

Aren't you just the goddam lucky one!

You're asking for a war up there! It's bad enough the seats are too close, the food sucks, and you have the trauma of trying to catch your flight, now you're going to throw idiots yammering about NOTHING into it! Think about taking a flight from Washington to Denver and from the time you take off, you have Little Missy Dipstick next to you making goo-goo conversation with the boyfriend who's waiting for her at the other end of the flight, and a guy behind you having good old time talking to the drinking buddies he left behind in Colorado.

And the whole time, you're just trying to figure out at what point in the flight did you lose the feeling in your legs! Does that sound fun to you? Does it?

If someone needs to make an emergency call, there are already AirPhones. Know why everyone and their brother doesn't talk all through the flight on those? BECAUSE IT COSTS THEM MONEY!

No free minutes there, boy!!!

You give these same inconsiderate numnuts a cell phone and they'll inflict the most boring, irritating, personal bullshit on you that you've ever heard! And you can't escape it. Why?

YOU'RE ON A DAMN AIRPLANE!

What are you gonna do, walk out?

What that first step, chief!

Don't do it !

Stop the insanity!

You'll end up having every other story on the news being a passenger or passengers being taken off of a plane on a stretcher and heliported to the local trauma center to get their cell phones surgically removed from their ass where a slightly annoyed fellow passenger rammed it somewhere over Roanoke. Flying is good because it saves time. But you're always going to have the idiots who don't care about anyone else and feel they can treat the place like their own living room. It's a bad idea. Don't do it.

Sincerely,

Wayne Heisler
